

OMOB & the Maryland Center for the Book

Our 2025 One Maryland One Book selection is Kin: Rooted in Hope by Carole Boston Weatherford (pictured), with art by Jeffery Boston Weatherford. Under the annual theme of What We Collect / What We Tell, this collection of poems, each matched with an illustration, gives voice to the Weatherford's family tree stretching all the way back to the founding of Maryland.

Maryland Humanities will collaborate with partners across the state to distribute over FREE copies of the book and produce public programs or events that expand and extend the book's themes & topics for audiences across Maryland's communities.

Want to host a program, or get involved?

Visit onemarylandonebook.org for more information.

LIBRARY
OF CONGRESS
CENTER FOR THE BOOK
MARYLAND AFFILIATE

Maryland Humanities serves as the Library of Congress' Center for the Book (CFB) affiliate with a mission to celebrate the state's literary heritage. Engage with us in multiple ways:

For active or retired service members, our Veteran's Book Groups engage dialogues of war experience through literature. Join one of our sessions across five counties.

Mark your calendars for the National Book Festival on September 6, 2025! We'll be at the Maryland booth celebrating our two "Great Reads" titles!

Come see us at other events! We love sharing about our programs at festivals, conferences, or other community events. Please let us know if we can support your event by spreading the love of literature. Invites welcome!

Reach Out!

Aditya Desai

Programs Officer, Literature
adesai@mdhumanities.org
410-618-3769

Eden Etzel

Program Assistant, Literature
etzel@mdhumanities.org
410) 685-3715